About

Hi! I'm David, English Tutor, Freelance Developer, and Cybersecurity Researcher.
I have over 3 years of experience developing websites and applications, automating tasks, performing penetration testing, and securing web applications.
I am passionate about development and cybersecurity. I enjoy solving problems that I encounter during my free time, but also love to learn new technologies that are useful for me and my work. One of my goals is to become better at what I do and develop as much as I can in everything that I touch and work on.

Hobbies

Music, piano, skateboarding, photography, philosophy, video games, art.
